The Varsity Loses an Exciting Ten-Inning Game.

The greatest surprise ever sprung on the aggregation across the creek was let loose upon them in the first game of the season between the two universities on May 11th. It took ten innings to win the game, and several times the game was ours, only to be thrown away by some miserable error.

Titus was in the box and pitched a great game, and would easily have won but for the errors behind him. His work on this occasion entitles him to rank among the best college pitchers. On several occasions he pulled the team out of the tightest places. He was also as effective with the bat and in fielding, lining out two safe hits and taking six chances without an error. Campbell and Hester ably assisted him with the bat, the former getting two good hits, one a three-bagger; and the latter, three hits.

Hester's hit in the seventh put our team two ahead, and then the Blue and Gray became alarmed and sent in hot haste for all rooters to come to the rescue. Fresh squads came rushing from the University and soon began an excited and wild cheering, which helped materially in turning the tide. At this point the absence of George Washington rooters was sadly apparent in the time of need, as their presence might have decided the outcome. Montgomery, Georgetown's old reliable, became unsteady and gave way to Cantwell, who did not put any great change in the condition of things.

Scores were even in the ninth.

Again G. W. U. forged to the front in the tenth, when Hester got his second single off Cantwell, went to second on an out, and scored when Cantwell threw by Simon, trying to nail him off second.

Georgetown's half of the tenth came. Even with support, Titus might have pulled his team out, but Orrison promptly lost another, and then Webber muffed a thrown ball, placing Scheller and Cantwell again on the bases. Devlin tried again to sacrifice, but popped up to Titus.

Titus walked Courtney and Smith, forcing in the run which tied the score. With one down and the bags filled, Simon laced one over into right and the game was over. Score:

NEEDHAM WINS DEBATE.

In the last Inter-Society debate between the Needham and Columbian societies, the former won, defending the negative of the question, Resolved, That the Federal Government should prohibit the transportation in interstate commerce of the products and mines and factories employing child labor.

The Needham was represented by Messrs. M. W. Patterson, R. H. Rowe, and H. C. Cooke, the latter doing the rebuttal; the Columbian by A. J. Heimbeck, R. I. Moore, and C. A. Miller, the latter rebutting for the affirmative.

All the speeches were well prepared and delivered effectively, so that the decision was in doubt when the last speaker had spoken. The negative admitted the existence of the child-labor evil, but differed with the affirmative as to the need and practicability of Federal regulation.

After long deliberation, the judges, Professors Charles C. Swisher and W. C. Clephane, and Mr. M. N. Limkins, announced that the burden of showing the practicability of Federal regulation was too heavy upon the affirmative, and gave the decision to the Needham, with first honors to Mr. C. A. Miller, of Columbian, and second to Mr. H. C. Cooke, of Needham.

EDITOR AND MANAGER ELECTED

At the annual meeting of THE HATCHET board last week, Mr. E. P. Gates, College '08, and Mr. F. C. Allis, College '08, were elected Editor-in-Chief and Business Manager, respectively, of THE HATCHET, for the session of 1907-8. These two have won their places by virtue of the excellent work which they have done in the editorial and business work of THE HATCHET during the past year. In the competition for Assistant Editor and Assistant Manager during the first semester, their work was decided to be the best and they were elected to the positions of assistants, followed by the promotion of last week.

The outgoing staff will turn over THE HATCHET to the new staff with all confidence that its tone and quality will continue to improve under their control, as it has been our endeavor to make the present year's life of the paper an improvement over that of last year. The University is fortunate in having two such experienced students at the head of the editorial and business departments of THE HATCHET, and we extend our congratulations and wish them the success that is deservedly theirs.

Pay Your Subscriptions.

There are still some subscribers who have failed to send in their subscriptions, although they have been written to and many of them solicited personally. All business matters of the paper must be settled up this week, therefore those who are still delinquent are urged to pay their subscriptions at once.

OFFICERS OF THE ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION ELECTED.

The recent annual election of officers of the Athletic Association resulted as follows:

	College.	Law.	Medical.	Total.
President.
B. A. Beard, L., '08.	53	61	42	156
W. J. Turkenton, C., '08.	72	11	57	140
Vice-President.
E. P. Gates, C., '08.	87	44	16	147
R. D. Wolfe, M., '08.	31	21	78	130
Secretary.
F. H. Twyeffort, L., '08.	74	55	55	184
Treasurer.

Mgr. Basket Ball Team.
M. S. Biddle, L., '09.	39	40	63	142
D. H. Wilhelm, C., '08.	77	28	34	139

Those receiving the largest number of votes for the different offices in the above list will be the officers of the Association for the year 1907-8.

BOUND VOLUMES.

The Manager has some bound volumes of THE UNIVERSITY HATCHET of 1906-7, which may be had for the sum of $2.00. Those wishing a volume may obtain them by dropping a note in the boxes or addressing the Manager. It contains a complete history of the doings of the University during the year, and will be valuable in after years to refer to. Especially should the graduating classes have this volume as a memento of their last year in the University.

Fraternalities and societies intending to give entertainments during Commencement week are requested to send in to THE HATCHET announcements of the same so that they may appear in the last issue of the paper, next week.

Professor Charles C. Swisher has been appointed committee in charge of the reception to be given to the graduates by the President and Faculties of the University at Rauscher's, on Wednesday, June 5th, at 8 p. m.

Professor James Brown Scott has been appointed by President Roosevelt legal adviser to the United States representation at The Hague Conference.

SYRACUSE DEBATE.

One of the principal events during Commencement week will be the Syracuse-George Washington debate, which will be held in Continental Hall on the afternoon of June 5th. The question for debate is, Resolved, That Immigration from European countries should be further restricted. George Washington will defend the affirmative of the question, with a team composed of J. T. Kennedy, Law '07; E. P. Gates, College '08, and David A. Baer, College '08, with M. A. Hall, College '08, alternate. Kennedy is a member of the graduating law class, and has had a long experience in debating since entering the University, having been on several Inter-Society debates, winning first honor at the final prize debate last June, and was a member of the team that won the contest from the University of Cincinnati last year. He is one of the best debaters that the University has ever produced, being a most logical speaker and especially convincing in rebuttal.

Gates is the most experienced man on the team, having a most remarkable record; besides representing his Society in several Inter-Society contests, he has represented the University in debates with the University of Virginia, the University of Cincinnati, and Washington and Lee, his team winning in each instance. His grasp of the points at issue and his manner of presenting his arguments are unsurpassed by any other debater that has ever represented the University. He has been so remarkably successful in his debating that it has become a belief that the University cannot lose when Gates is on the team.

Baer has represented his Society in an Inter-Society debate, and has shown himself a forceful speaker, winning the place over some of the University's best debaters in the finals. He can be depended on to uphold his part of the contest. Gates, Baer and Hall are members of the Enosinian Society, while Kennedy belongs to the Needham.

There will be no charges for admission to this debate, since the visiting team will bear its own expenses, while the University bears the expenses entailed by reason of the debate here. Syracuse has one of the best debating records of Eastern colleges, and to win a victory over it will mean much to the already remarkable debating record of the University.

Everything else has been set aside for that afternoon, in order to make the occasion one of especial moment, and all students are expected to be present at this last debate of the year.

Yale has received two bequests of $100,000 each, one from the estate of Edward West Currier, of New York, the income to be paid deserving students needing assistance, and the other from the estate of William C. Egleston, of New York.

Cornell undergraduates are agitating the question of whether or not the freshman banquet shall continue to be the scene of an organized fight between the two under classes. The general sentiment is in favor of such a meeting, and those monster petitions are being sent to the faculty.

Michigan has now decided to remain in the Western Conference and stick to the seven-game schedule. It is stated that Michigan considers her natural affiliations lie in the West, and that Eastern arrangements would be unsatisfactory in the end.

Examinations for the senior class are at last over. We can hardly realize that the three years' of hard work have been completed; that the goal for which we have struggled is almost within our grasp. Looking back upon the three years of our college life, it is not without some regret that we pass from under the shelter of our Alma Mater. When men have struggled side by side to realize a laudable ambition, when they have fought on regardless of the discouragements and difficulties met with in their path, the friendships formed during that trying period of their career are generally firmer than if formed under ordinary circumstances. Our little class of sixteen has been like one family during the three years just passed. The reputation it has made for itself with the faculty is an enviable one, and one which the future classes may well be proud to emulate. We appreciate the efforts and self-sacrifice of those men who night after night, and week after week have given us their time both in the laboratory and lecture room, and guided our footsteps over the rough and difficult places in the study of our profession.

The farewell address to the class by Professor Walton was full of good solid advice, and was received with the greatest amount of enthusiasm. He gave a short talk on the ethics of fee charging in orthodontia cases, and strove to impress the class that the time of the dentist and not the work done should be the deciding factor in charging fees; that in all cases the very best skill of which the operator is capable should be given, no matter what the fee charged, and told the boys that they should not be afraid or ashamed to ask the advice of a competent and experienced dentist should they run across a puzzling case when out in practice. He concluded by remarking that in view of the good papers turned in on the written examinations, he did not consider it necessary to give them an oral examination, and wished every man present a successful career.

Mr. Jackson, of the senior class, has been assigned by the Treasury Department to the sub-treasury at New York City for a period of about six weeks on important business, and as New York is Jackson's home, it is needless to say that this assignment was in the nature of a graduating present handed to him by Uncle Sam. Jackson will go before the New York Board of Dental Examiners in June, and it is believed that his enthusiastic temperament will aid him in building a practice before it is time for him to return to Washington.

Mr. Wood, of the senior class, was heard to advise a lady patient in the Infirmary one day last week, to get some "student to do the work."

RESOLUTIONS.

Whereas, Captain Edwards Kemeys, late U. S. A., the father of our friend and class-mate, William Kemeys, has answered the last call of the Great Commander, be it

Resolved, That we, the members of the First Year Medical Class of George Washington University, extend to the bereaved wife and son of the deceased our heartfelt sympathy in their affliction and loss; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be placed upon the minutes of the class; that a copy be sent to "The University Hatchet" for publication, and that a copy be sent to the family of the departed one.

Students of California have established the custom of meeting as a body in the gymnasium to discuss topics of vital interest to the University. At a meeting of this sort held recently the honor system, newspaper relations and track conditions were the subjects under discussion.

THURSDAY, MAY 30, 1907.

The HATCHET has been suspended during the last two weeks, because the Editor and some of the staff have been deeply engaged in final examinations, on the outcome of which depends their degrees. The next issue will be the last for the year, in which will appear announcements of the events of Commencement week as completely as may be obtained. The editors are asked to get all possible information from their respective departments concerning Commencement week, and have it in by Tuesday next.

FINAL MEETING OF THE YEAR.

All those members of the University who have the good fortune to be connected with the French department were most delightfully entertained on Friday, May 3d, by Professor Henning at his home, 1728 20th Street, with his sister, Miss Henning, serving most graciously as hostess.

This was the final meeting of the French Club, which will doubtless be resumed at the beginning of next year.

Mr. Robson De S. Brown began the program with a very lucid and interesting abstract of an article by Barrett Wendell, in the March Scribner's on "Public Education in France," showing in what respects it differs from our own system. Professor Henning, who was the presiding genius, commented upon Barrett Wendell and his experiences in France, in an informal and decidedly entertaining way.

The poet, Le Conte de Lisle, was next considered, and Miss Vera Adams read a most able and appreciative paper concerning his style and works. Miss Nellie Besselièvre recited one of the most dramatic of de Lisle's poems, "Le Soir d'une Bataille," which Professor Henning had previously translated. Mr. Keith, the Vice-President of the Club, then gave a short address in French on the most interesting features of the old town of Rouen.

Miss Frances Bethune sang French songs in her own inimitable manner, and Mr. C. W. Whitmore, of the alumni, played two violin solos which were much appreciated.

After the more formal program was concluded refreshments were served and the evening ended in a purely social way.

Besides the regular members of the French Club, who comprise about twenty from the College, several guests enjoyed the hospitality of Professor Henning and his sister. Among these were Dr. and Mrs. Schoenfeld, Professor Wilbur, Mrs. Vance and Mrs. Veditz.

The senior law students at Minnesota have protested against wearing caps and gowns at graduation. This conventional attire, they say, is effeminate and not becoming to men. President Northrup of the University says that he does not disapprove of their action; and that the only students who really get their money's work out of the garments are the girls of the academic department.

Freshmen at Michigan succeeded in giving their annual banquet despite vigorous opposition from sophomores. Most of those responded to toasts had to make their way into the gym through an underground passage.

NEWS OF THE COLLEGES.

The Naval Academy has practically completed its football schedule for next fall. Harvard will go to Annapolis for her first football game with the Midshipmen. The Army and Navy game will be played on Franklin Field, Pennsylvania University, most likely on November 30. There is some doubt as to whether or not Princeton will play the sailors this year.

Students at Leland Stanford have formed the Students' Transfer Company, and will do a general baggage and express business among undergraduates. The cause of such a move lies in the fact that the local concerns doubled their prices for handling trunks and suit cases.

Two changes in the football rules for the coming season were adopted by the intercollegiate football rules committee.

The first rule provides that in the case of a forward pass, the players must be at least a yard back from the line when the play is begun. This rule was adopted to remove the ambiguity of the old rule as to whether the players were on the end of the scrimmage line or behind the line.

The other rule provides that a forward pass crossing the goal line on the bound or rolling, whether before or after being legally touched, shall count as a touchdown to the defenders of the goal.

The name of the new official provided for at the last meeting has been changed from field umpire to field judge to prevent confusion.

A call has been sent out for a conference to be held in New York June 7 for the consideration of various football matters, including the appointment of and jurisdiction over officials, uniform fees, and uniform action in other matters.

By a jump of 4 feet 2 inches, Miss Emily Stark, of Michigan University, came within a fraction of an inch of the world's high jump record for girls, in a meet at that University recently.

M. Jusserand Writes of Encouragement to Dr. Harlan.

M. Jusserand, the French Ambassador, has written a letter to Dr. Richard D. Harlan, of the George Washington University site-fund committee, describing what the founder of the famous Paris School of Political Sciences did for France, and showing what patriotic Americans may do for their country by an endowment for a similar school at the National Capital.

The letter, in part, is as follows: "I join heartily in the good wishes for the success of that noble undertaking, the greater George Washington University. That you will reach your goal I do not doubt.

"Now, the city in which the George Washington University is meant to develop is not famous for its trade; its industries enjoy no celebrity, and the world has heard little of its agriculture and navigation. But famous is its Supreme Court, famous its Capitol, famous, I may say, its White House—very famous indeed. It is pre-eminently a city of magistrates and statesmen, representatives of eternal justice and of the (not perhaps quite so immutable) will of the people.

"These are striking conditions, and your intention to fit the university more and more exactly to them is certainly a move in the right direction. The George Washington University cannot hesitate and has no choice—it will become famous and be of use to the country as a nursery of magistrates, statesmen, and diplomats.

"When France emerged, in 1871, from one of the most terrible and bloody crises she had known in the course of fourteen centuries, every one of us had only one thought: What can be done for our country? And everywhere, in every direction, throughout the country, people set to work to the best of their ability.

"One of the most valuable results of that movement was due to a private citizen, not widely known then; a man who had no funds at his disposal; who did not possess the fiery speech and burning eloquence which moves multitudes; a quiet man of simple habits and gentle voice; but with a tenacious will and a heart of gold. That heart of his taught him that the best way for him to help his country was to found a school where her sons might acquire a better knowledge of the nations of the world (France included), of diplomacy, history, social questions, and political sciences.

"As a friend and guest of this city and of this republic, I can form no better wish for your university than this: May it be as successful as the 'Ecole des Sciences Politiques' has been in France; may it prove as useful to the United States in their prosperity as it was to us, 'patria tempore iniquo'."

"I am, dear Dr. Harlan,

"Very sincerely yours,

"JUSSERAND,

"French Ambassador."

The Daily Sun of Cornell prints the following as the articles of agreement among the Civil Engineering students, who have adopted the Honor System:

"Art. 1. (a) This honor system shall apply to students in all courses given in the College of Civil Engineering and pending the adoption of an honor system by the other colleges to all Civil Engineering students in such colleges.

"Art. II. (a) Students thus included shall be on their honor to refrain from 'cribbing' in classrooms and examinations.

"(b) Students shall personally reprimand any violation and report the offense to the chairman of a student committee as defined hereinafter.

"Art. IV. (a) It shall be the duty of the chairman to record all offenses reported; to call meetings of the committee when necessary; and to act in accordance with the finding of the committee.

"(b) It shall be his further duty to notify a student of any offense reported against him, and if this be his second offense, to bring his case before the committee immediately.

"(c) It shall be his further duty to request a student found guilty of a second offense to withdraw from the University within five (5) days, and in case of failure to comply with this request, to present the findings of the committee to the proper authorities.

"Art. VIII. (a) Any student accused of a first offense shall have the privilege of bringing his case before the committee."

COMING ATTRACTIONS.

The attraction at the Majestic Theater this week, after the Katherine Powell company closes, will be Rose Melville in "Sis Hopkins," that well-known rural melodrama.

"Raffles, the Amateur Cracksman," has been selected by Edwin Arden for the third week at the Belasco Theater, beginning May 27th. This stirring drama of a thief who stole, not because he had to, but purely for the excitement of stealing, will be one of Mr. Arden's most important productions.

Chase's this week will present a polite vaudeville bill, including Emmet Devoy and company in "In Dreamland," the spectacular comic and fantastic novelty, produced by the Belasco dramatic production department; the prima donna Grace Hazard, in "Five Feet of Comic Opera," a musical tid-bit; "Little Hip," the baby performing elephant that will distribute programmes; the Kita-Banzai Royal Japanese troupe; Happy Jack Gardner, Martini and Maximillian, Billy Gaston and Ethel Green, and "The Tramp Dog" motion pictures.

MISS VIVIAN BREWSTER

Noted Soprano who will sing with the Summer Opera Company at the New National.

SUMMER OPERA SEASON

Quite the most important announcement of any of Washington's theatres relative to the supplementary season is that of the New National Theater, pertaining to a summer opera season under the direction of the well-known managers, Milton and Sargent Aborn, of New York. The season, which gives promise of lasting throughout the entire summer, will begin Monday night, May 27, with a sumptuous production of "Robin Hood," the Smith-DeKoven Comic Opera made famous by the old Bostonians. A feature of the opening bill will be the appearance of George H. Frothingham, life-long member of the Bostonians. Mr. Frothingham will appear in his original role of the jolly Friar Tuck. Others in the company include Harold Blake, the renowned tenor; Vivian Brewster, lyric soprano; Huntington May, the popular Washington basso, and others of equal note. Orders have already been received for seats throughout the entire season of ten weeks. "Robin Hood" will be followed by "The Serenade." Later will be heard "The Mikado," "Chimes of Normandie," and "The Bohemian Girl."

The 75th anniversary of the founding of the Alpha Delta Phi Society was held, in connection with the annual convention of that fraternity, in New York, April 17 to 20. The occasion was made particularly interesting by the presence of Rev. Dr. Edward Everett Hale, one of the oldest members of the fraternity, who has just celebrated his 85th birthday.

President Wheeler, of the University of California, has been offered the position of President of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. He will probably accept.
